Introduction to the monthly horoscope

One of the most common uses of Astrology is a means of understanding yourself and the coming opportunities and challenges as determined by course the planets take through the sky.

The monthly reports show the impact of the planetary transits, especially those of the planets Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune, Pluto, the Moon’s North Node and the Asteroids.

A yearly forecast gives a broad range view, while these monthly forecasts indicate what shifts in energy are on the horizon in a specific month. Each transit is prioritized based on how much it is likely to actually impact a specific area of your life. The most significant transits are displayed first.

For instance, in case of a major positive transit between Jupiter and your Natal Mercury, you may embark on a quest of higher learning or may need to embrace new philosophical or spiritual beliefs that can positively influence your life. You may also make lucky connections that can help broaden your network.

When Saturn makes a challenging transit to your Natal Venus, you may have to resolve conflicts related to commitment, love or financial constraints. Seeing this challenge forecasted in advance can prepare you to pay attention and take measures to solidify your commitment.

Mars transits can energize or frustrate, depending on whether the transit includes harmonious or inharmonious aspects. For example, a harmonious Mars transit over your Ascendant can give you a burst of confidence that you may need in order to pursue new ambitions and assert your desires.

Yet an inharmonious Mars transit over your Seventh House may foretell the need for caution in how you deal with a partner. Acting impulsively or becoming defensive will not be in your best interest during this transit.

Uranus transits can show areas of unexpected change and Pluto can point to areas of loss or personal transformation. A major Neptune transit can suggest spiritual growth and healing or potential self-deception.

You can plan for love, financial stability, career and personal growth when you understand the coming monthly transits. Conflicting transits between Venus, Saturn or your Second House, for example, can indicate a need to be cautious not to overestimate your income. A harmonious aspect between Jupiter and your Midheaven can suggest an ideal time for promotion or expansion in career or business.

February's transits on Alice's natal chart in order of importance.

\( \varpi \sigma \psi 25^\circ \Psi 12' \)

Time for a conjunction aspect by Pluto transiting on your natal Neptune.

This transit happens from 2021/02/01 to 2021/02/28.
Peak dates: from 2021/02/01 to 2021/02/03.

Favourable for: Deep spiritual healing and transformation, getting clear about your fantasies and desires, having the authority and power to act on your vision.

Adverse for: Misusing your authority, poor boundaries, pursuit of pleasure and control instead of growth and transcendence.

Suggestion: See truth through illusions now, pursue a new path to enlightenment, trust your intuition and master your spiritual practices now.

Reading: Profound spiritual awakening occurs at this time.

You are shedding any and all illusions and coming face to face with essential truths. Your beliefs will be altered and you may be attracted to a new spiritual path or otherwise seek spirituality in a significantly different way at this time.

Your path of personal evolution is accelerated at this time as old wounds are healed and you are finally able to release old patterns of thinking and illusions which previously kept you trapped in illusions of control.

You feel as if you are operating on a higher plane, seeing the big picture and working to resolve deep seated issues on both the material, psychological and spiritual planes.

Your relationships have an intense, ethereal and mystical undertone to them.

You are grappling with the undercurrents of your own mind. Intuition and psychic connection are strong. Your dreams may seem more real than waking life and are likely offering you significant clues and intuitive guidance.

Otherworldly guidance is likely to have a powerful impression on you, be it through synchronicity, spirit communication, divination or dream work.

You have a sixth sense about things and need to focus your attention on getting to the root of the matter. Don’t let anxiety and fear of the unknown paralyze you.

Your moods may be deep and reflective. Though your imagination is powerfully activated, don’t let whims and wishful thinking distract you from what is otherwise a powerful time of transformation and growth.

Pluto conjunction Neptune will be in your 2nd house from 2021/02/01 to 2021/02/28.
You are called to re-evaluate what you value. Circumstances involving drastic change or losses may cause you to get back to the bare bones of discerning what you need versus what you want.

Your financial situation changes dramatically and, in the process, old fears are dredged to the surface to be confronted. Attitudes about money, wealth, power and security are challenged so that you can release any old patterns of thinking that had been steeped in illusions.

You may become obsessive about securing more money or wealth. Hobbies or collections can become obsessions as well and you may begin hoarding material objects as a means of false security. Be mindful not to resort to deceit and underhanded behavior to acquire wealth and possessions, although you may be tempted to do so under this transit.

Your relationship with money and any beliefs you have about money as it relates to power will be put under a microscope and examined closely. You will be challenged to alter some of these beliefs.

Your focus, determination, and connection to powerful people can help you advance your financial standing but you must also be careful not to become fixated on money for the sake of money.

Importance of this transit for Alice:

The energies associated with your Juno are blended by a conjunction by transiting Chiron.

This transit happens from 2021/02/01 to 2021/02/28.
Peak dates: from 2021/02/05 to 2021/02/07.

Reading: During this time you may find that you are attracted to a partner or significant other who is instrumental in helping you to overcome a healing crisis.

You may also be drawn to a partner who dredges up past pains that you haven’t resolved. You may be as drawn to the pain and patterns of feeling neglected and insufficient as you are to the particular partner.

Yet through this relationship, your partner holds a mirror up to you that can allow you to delve deeper into your own healing and break cycles from the past. You may also play an instrumental role in helping your partner or spouse deal with a wound or trauma that you have experienced but haven’t completely healed yet.

You may have a role in helping your partner overcome an ongoing wound because of your own intuitive understanding and unique vision regarding this issue.

Chiron conjunction Juno will be in your 4th house from 2021/02/01 to 2021/02/28.
During this time you are likely to have to come to terms with past wounds involving family, security and your sense of home. You may be triggered by unresolved losses from the past or from unresolved issues from childhood.

Your sensitivity to others’ need for security and emotional comfort is heightened during this time. It is also a good time to show your empathy and trust your intuition.

The best way to get through this conflict is to give space and validation to the gifts of both your rational and intuitive side, rather than trying to allow one to rule the other.

Avoid compulsive actions at this time. Your thoughts may tend to race due to an increase in anxiety or pressure to express your emotional nature rather than suppressing this part of yourself.

Avoid impulsively blurting out the first thing to come to your mind as this may create conflicts in relationships with others. You may have to process a few layers of emotion in order to really get to the heart of what you want and need right now.
